(50) Managers promote communication among different work units (for example, about projects, goals, needed resources).